

"Focus, relax and calm down"

Today high school students pass the unified state examination in geography and literature. For other items there's some repeat material. In most cases search online resources for preparing for the unified state examination leads either to the tutor or to pay rates. However, exercise can be free, and will help official sites, which, however, is not always easy to handle.

Official information portal of the exam

The official information portal of the exam, it is possible to see the control and measuring materials of the exams, in other words — to see how the forms, how to properly fill, as formulated problem and how it was measured. Downloading archived versions of the tests can practice their passing.

Today's high school students on the exam verses do not compose.

"Russian education"

To perform these tasks online offers the website "Russian education". Here the passage of the tests is given as much time as will be given in the exam. For each subject, the explanation of the changes made to the exam in 2015. For example, in the exam on the Russian language has changed a number of parts and tasks. The math exam is divided into two levels: basic and specialized. In General, all subjects reduced the number of jobs in choosing the correct answer, and became more detailed answers by. To pass the sample tests on this website, you need to register.

"Use the portal"

"Use the portal" offers a variety of assignments in all subjects. This is an unofficial public resource with open access for authors to share their materials for the preparation of the graduates here can be anyone. You will find many of the materials developed by the teachers, except the tests can be useful various video tutorials and manuals. Recently the site was laid out critiques of jobs early exam. For example, videorubber jobs early math exam.

Videorubber tasks for mathematics from early exam

Videorubber tasks on the Russian language. Commas are important.

Yandex. The exam

A special project from Yandex ege.yandex.ru is a flexible training system that allows you to take online test on selected topics of each subject and the subject in General. Not here simulates the exam situation: the execution time of tasks is not limited, they are structured exactly the same as in the forms of the exam. Our main goal is to give you an idea about the content of jobs and to assess the level of their training. Service is convenient and easy, there is no need to download anything or to register. If desired, the can someone write my essays for me questions can be easily printed. The tests are interesting even to those who school has long been finished. Well, let's admit it the idea of design, which embodies the attitude of pupils to recognized competence.

You can download the app "Yandex. The exam" for smartphones.

Designers of Yandex caught the attitude of pupils to recognized competence.

bitClass: preparation without stress

Many popular application for learning foreign languages that build process on the principle of "better fewer, but regularly". So, users learn languages, practicing 15-20 minutes every day. On the same principle is built and the system of online training for the exam in Russian language and mathematics bitClass. They will have to do 10 minutes a day for each subject. At the beginning of each session, the user sees a "Plan for today" and can choose to start whether it to tests or to read the relevant sections in the Handbook. Of course, such a system implies that the preparations you began to advance, but it can help to refresh knowledge on specific topics and tune in to the decision task.

It is not necessary to spend for preparation for the exam days and nights. bitClass offers to do for 10 minutes a day. But every day.

A little more about useful information on the official portal of exam. First, here is a list of hotlines in all regions of the Russian Federation on which it is possible to personally check the information about examinations.

Secondly, even on the official website of the exam where, it would seem, is no place for emotions, recommendations of psychologists for graduates and their parents. Now, psychologists recommend when preparing for exams "focus, relax and calm down," remember to stroll and relax, and before the big day be sure to get enough sleep. Nothing new, but sometimes it is useful to remember it. No fluff, no pen!